'Antigone' Finishes Run Tomorrow

HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By Bill Dennis

As promised, this column presents the first of a series devoted to a survey of the possible presidential nominees.

Two contributors, Ken Pasqualetti, Activities Commissioner, and Walt Travis, president of State's Young Republican organization (off-campus), express their opinions concerning the Republicans whose names have appeared frequently in the press as possible nominees.

Mr. Pasqualetti has noted some interesting details concerning all of the possible candidates, while Mr. Travis has chosen to write about Harold Stassen, the Young Republicans' choice for the nomination.

PASQUALETTI SURVEY

As convention time nears, we find the following contenders in the race for the Republican candidacy: Stassen, Dewey, MacArthur, Warren, Vandenburg and Taft. At this writing, the race seems to have narrowed down to a contest between Dewey, Stassen and MacArthur.

Mr. Dewey's main strength seems to lie with the conservative elements of the party. He has an excellent record as governor of New York. His particular abilities lie in his calm judgment, his analytical approach to world affairs and an ability to get at the core of a problem. There is a feeling in some circles that Dewey is governed more by his personal ambitions than by an interest in the majority. However, Mr. Dewey's record stands out strongly in his favor.

In contrast to Mr. Dewey, Harold Stassen has the support of the progressive wing of the Republican party and should attract a wide following in this area.

Still in the race, his strength not fully tested, we see the "Man of the Hour," Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur has proven himself an able administrator and has a wide following from all sections of the United States. This candidate is, of course, haunted by the old saying that "Generals never make good Presidents." He seems to be rather strongly supported by William Randolph Hearst.

Warren and Vanderburg stand an excellent chance of going to the conventions as favorite sons. Taft can be ruled out at this time because of his lack of mob appeal.

In summation, I feel that it is the duty of the Republican party to select a candidate who will lead an enlightened progressive America along the road to peace, but who will follow the policy of the greatest Republican, President Theodore Roosevelt, who said, "Walk softly and carry a big stick."

TRAVIS LIKES STASSEN

As a Young Republican, I select Harold Stassen as the best choice of all of the Republican candidates. In my opinion, Mr. Stassen offers more in the way of executive ability, knowledge of world affairs and general capability than any of the other candidates.

Mr. Stassen was recognized by our late President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a man of ability and integrity when he chose him as delegate to the United Nations Conference in San Francisco. Stassen's forthright, honest personality and his personal integrity make him the only possible choice for the job of chief executive.

(Next week—Harry Truman, if I have to write it myself!)

Petition Fever Agitates College

Candidates For Student Body Posts Warned of Hard Work, No Glory

EDITORIAL

Student body elections will be held in a fortnight! Any election usually brings a certain amount of "election fever" and excitement. So, a deluge of petitions for high student positions is expected.

Prospective candidates will be doing their utmost to out-campaign, to out-speak the other guy. Just how many of these "hard-working" candidates will "work hard after they are in office," remains to be seen.

Now is as good a time as any to warn potential candidates that they are in for a lot of hard work. Not too much glory will be attached to their job. The records this last year show that of the original 12 student leaders (president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, activities commissioner and seven members-at-large), only six have "stuck it out."

Suspected reasons for falling by the wayside were that either 1) the work became harder, and they got lazier; 2) the work took too much of their time and energy; and/or 3) the prestige wore off.

Yes, it was easy to file a petition once the "election fever" prompted them, but the records seem to indicate that half of those entries never gave the positions sufficient thought.

Some of the questions you may ask yourself may be: Am I fairly acquainted with the present student body set-up? Will I have the time and energy to handle the job efficiently? Will I do my level best once I am in office, or will I sit around and hold a "fat title"? Will I be a true representative of the Associated Students?

Remember, this is no time for "playing politics," what with important issues (such as the new campus) at hand.

Happy petitioning! —J. H.

12 Students Begin Quest For Offices

Campus attention this week began focusing on the student body elections to be held April 30.

Most aspirants already have obtained their petitions of candidacy, although the week of April 19-23 previously had been designated as the official time.

Ken Shelley and Earl Homan are circulating petitions in the important presidential race.

TWO FILE FOR SECRETARY

Barbara Tehaney is seeking candidacy for vice-president. Al Gabriel and Marion Millisich are looking for 15 signatures for the office of secretary. Phil Ryan has declared his intention of running for activities commissioner.

This list is far from complete since candidates have until 4 p.m. April 23 to submit their petitions and the necessary 100-word statement of qualifications.

SIX AT-LARGE PETITIONS

Bob Seymour, Mary Ellen Berry, Lorraine Mahoney, Pat Desmond, Eina Eichner and Yvonne Karanoff are circulating petitions for one of the seven member-at-large posts.

Rumor that a constitution amendment would be presented for student vote at this election has been silenced by action of the Board of Directors in voting down the proposal.

The proposition would have called for two student body elections a year to help expedite the job of the Board of Directors. It was decided that the plan would not be feasible at this time.

FINAL SHOWINGS—Virginia Cox and Stanton Keeney portray the leading roles, Antigone and Creon, in the Greek tragedy, "Antigone," tonight and tomorrow evening at Aptos Junior High Auditorium.
(See story, column 7.)

Turnout at First Shows Falls Short

A "disappointing" house of 170 attended the Northern California premiere of "Antigone," College Theatre's dramatic presentation, last Friday at Aptos Junior High Auditorium. Approximately the same number viewed the play the following night, according to the drama staff.

Lewis Galantiere's version of Jean Anouilh's French success was expected to draw a larger audience, since the drama had proved one of Broadway's biggest bonanzas during its 1946 and 1947 run.

Adverse weather may have kept many from attending the initial showings, according to drama staff members. The drama will be presented again tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30, Aptos Junior High Auditorium.

Scenery, designed by Julio Francescutti, and costumes by Ruth Sitton highlighted the settings. Richard Glyer and Phyllis Finkel, assisted by George Crowder, directed the make-up. Edwin Kruth handled the orchestrations, and Muriel Landers, assisted by Jean Emard, directed the presentation.

Leonard at Bat For Increase

President J. Paul Leonard last Wednesday met with representatives from the State Board of Education and the State Department of Finance at Sacramento in regard to the needed increase in Lake Merced Building funds.

The new campus, originally planned for approximately 3500 students, will necessitate enlarging and redesigning to accommodate the estimated 5000 students.

Aubrey Douglas, assistant superintendent of the Department of Education, and Pierce Fazel of the Department of Finance, will visit the campus next Wednesday and Thursday to ascertain the needs of the campus.

Committee to Formulate Creative Arts Compromise

A committee consisting of Vin O'Leary, student body president; J. Fenton McKenna, executive director of drama; and Charles Roumasset, administrator of student affairs; has been formed to arrange a new financial compromise between the Division of Creative Arts and the Associated Students.

The committee will try to find a solution within the provisions of the 10-point plan, which now sets forth financial arrangements between Associated Students and all subsidized organizations.

The 10-point plan will be reworded so that the requirements are more specific, and especially will clarify the present position of the Division of Creative Arts.

The Division of Creative Arts had requested permission to withdraw from the Associated Students and operate independently.

This move was opposed by O'Leary, who read a statement to the conference, explaining the student position.

Others who attended the conference were: John H. Cornehlsen Jr., dean of men, and Mary Ward, dean of women.

The committee of three will meet eachweek until a compromise is reached.

String Ensemble To Play Tuesday

A program of chamber music by State's String Ensembles holds the spotlight at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Frederic Burk Auditorium. Directed by Douglas Clark and George Leedham, Division of Creative Arts, the musicale features compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Handel, Haydn, Mozart and Schubert.

Among numbers scheduled for instruments infrequently heard are concerti for viola, played by Al Rivasplata, and for bassoon, presented by Ed Avril.

The program is sponsored by the Music Federation and the Division of Creative Arts. Admission is complimentary.

Seniors End Contest Today

Entries for the Senior Ball Theme contest will be accepted until 2 p.m. today. Any member of the Associated Students is eligible and may enter as many themes as he desires.

First prize is a bid to the Senior Ball and dinner dancing date for two in the Garden Room of the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Four runner-ups will receive bids to the Senior Ball.

John Grey, Bill Huffmaster and Elinor Shaughnessy, members of the senior class, will be judges of the contest. Winner will be selected for originality and appropriateness of idea.

Coro Group Seeks 'Intern' Prospects

Coro Foundation representatives will interview students interested in internship in municipal affairs today in Annex A-7 from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

A scholarship of $100 a month is given each intern, in addition to benefits of the GI Bill. The program runs from the first week of October through the following June. Applicants must be veterans of World War II.

Final selection is made by a committee of leading citizens of San Francisco. Alumnus Thomas C. Fleming Jr. is working with minorities' survey for housing after completing his training with Coro Foundation.

Gusher Disrupts Classes . . . And That's Not All

A broken underground water main forced a five-foot section of Haight Street, opposite the campus, to rise up, cascading tons of water down the street last Wednesday.

The "flood" caused an acute water shortage that lasted for a brief time, disrupting normal activities in the laboratory classes and in the Co-op, resulting in the closing of the rest rooms.

'Students For Wallace' Holds Off-Campus Meet

"State Students for Wallace" had their first organizational meeting last Tuesday afternoon at Townsend Hall, 129 Haight Street.

The following temporary officers were elected: Louis Katz, chairman; Beverly Martin, vice-chairman; Ethel Anderson, corresponding secretary; and Beth DeRoy, financial secretary.

Dean Schedules GGC Talk

John H. Cornehlsen Jr., dean of men, will speak on Employee Qualifications Wednesday, 4-6 p.m., at Golden Gate College, 537 Market Street.

Music Teachers Go To Detroit Session

Five members of State's faculty left yesterday to attend the biannual Music Educators National Conference in Detroit, which began today and terminates next Thursday.

Instructors attending are: William Knuth, Sterling Wheelwright, Roy Freeburg, Lee Chrisman and Flavius Richards. They are scheduled to return on April 26.

All-American Honors . . .

Golden Gater Tops Again

The Golden Gater this week received All-American honor rating for Fall, 1947, from the Associated Collegiate Press newspaper critical service.

This is the second consecutive semester the Golden Gater has won the award. It made the grade last Spring. The award also was received in the Fall semester of 1943 and 1945.

State is in journalistic competition with all other four-year institutions that have the same enrollment and issue a weekly.

Marne Camp was editor of the Golden Gater during the first half of the semester, and Hank Weiss took the reins for the remainder. Marshall Simon was business manager.

Other top staff members were Joe Heath, Jean Heldoorn, Eina Eichner, Chuck Elkind, Ed Levitt, California Baker, Gil Dean, Luisa Hepper, Nita Buckley, Don Garofalo, Carol McFarlane and Frank Robinson.

FROSH HOP

Freshmen Toss Jig Next Friday Night

Freshman class throws its annual Frosh Hop next Friday night at the Century Club, 1365 Franklin Street, near Sutter.

Walt Tolleson's band will provide music for the occasion, although Ray Munson will lead the group in Tolleson's absence.

The dance is not formal. Women will wear their "Sunday best," and men will don dark suits, according to Jacqueline Kelling, freshman vice-president.

Only 150 bids (for couples) will be printed. Bids are $2.50 with student body cards, and will go on sale Monday. All students may go.

Dance committee is headed by Miss Kelling and Secretary Peggy Turney. Posters were done by Dale Perkins.

State Girl Sings In Play Tonight

Audrey Morrice, State student, sings the role of Josephine in "H. M. S. Pinafore," billed last night and tonight at Pacific Heights School Auditorium.

Miss Morrice is a member of State's a Capella Choir. She is one of the soloists slated for the oratorio, "St. Paul," scheduled by the Division of Creative Arts for next month.

Marine Major Will Land On Campus April 26-27

Major H. K. Throneson, United States Marine Corps, will visit State April 26, 27, and will be available in Room A-11, according to a letter received by the Western Recruiting Division this week.

A new program has been unfolded that makes both married and single applicants eligible. The first Marine Graduate Program affected only single men.

Leonard to Close Confab On International Affairs

President J. Paul Leonard will make the closing address at the Conference on International Affairs for students and alumni at Mills College tomorrow. He will speak on "American Democracy and Present World Conditions."

ANOTHER PLAN ?

Directors Receive Off-Campus Bill

A seven-point program to govern off-campus groups was accepted "tentatively" by the Board of Directors at its meeting last Tuesday. This is not connected with the nine-point plan that concerns on-campus organizations.

The regulations, set up by the Deans' Committee, were agreed upon with the stipulation that they will be reviewed and possibly amended.

Outside of conditions already covered by existing rules of the Associated Students, no campaign literature shall be distributed on campus and no funds collected for college purposes. Times and places for meetings must be obtained from the office of the Dean of Women.

The Board also voted to hold an Election Dance April 30 at the Scottish Rite Auditorium. During the dance, complete election returns will be announced.

Glyer Takes Accounting, Ready For Big Scene

Richard Glyer of the Division of Language Arts, is studying accounting in the Theatre Art Colony's version of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine."

Mr. Glyer has a one scene role in the play.

National, State College WSSF Drive Ends Today

State College recognition of a nation-wide drive for aid to World Student Service Fund ends today, according to John Kjol, president of International Relations Club.

IRC members who helped solicit funds were Robert Chopin, Rowena Bruce, Abdula Shally and Gasat Fonacier.

Senior Picnic Set May 15

May 15 is the temporary date for the Annual Senior-Alumni Picnic, which was canceled several weeks ago.

The committee is waiting for Coach Hal Harden to give his final decision as to when the Alumni-Gator baseball game may be played.

Bureau to Air T-H Act Tuesday

The Taft-Hartley Act will be aired by State's Discussion Bureau Tuesday in Annex A-12 at 1 p.m.

Last Tuesday, 70 students and members of the faculty attended discussion of the Third Party.

At its last meeting, the organization discussed a tentative constitution.

Students are invited to attend meetings held Wednesday 4 p.m. in AA6 and Friday 1 p.m. in Hut 1. There are no dues.

Lehan, Roumasset Salary Raises Affirmed by Board

The Board of Directors this week affirmed a recommendation of the Board of Control to raise the annual salaries of Erna Lehan, director of food service, from $3960 to $4200 and Charles A. Roumasset, administrator of student affairs, from $3600 to $4300.

This action was taken to bring their salaries in line with wages paid in other institutions.

Local Show May Be Aired

With plans underway to air "Mr. Sycamore" over a local hook-up, State's Radio Guild will cut the second in a series of transcriptions Wednesday at College Studio.

EDITORIALS

RYAN: Golden Gater Pulls Boner

The editors of the Golden Gater "have pulled a boner." In 28 lines of editorial, they have shown themselves completely lacking in understanding as regards to the nine point program of the Administration and the Associated Students.

I challenge the Golden Gater to name one religious organization that was a "victim of the pact." It is true that one religious organization has gone off campus this term, but this was of its own free will! The Newman Club, S. C. A., Hillel Foundation, and Christian Agatheans either accept all to membership or have a provision for associate members.

In the last paragraph of this brilliant editorial the Golden Gater states: "The plan was drawn up as a criterion for on-campus standing." Was it? I don't believe so. As the program stands now, the nine points are a criterion for CONSIDERATION of on-campus standing. Other factors, over and above the nine point program, enter into the consideration of an organization for on-campus standing. Even if the nine point program was the only criterion for on-campus recognition, some one or some group would have to investigate and certify that the organization did comply with the nine points.

Another minor detail "loused up" by the gentlemen of the press can be found on page one, paragraph two of column two, line three: "According to the Associated Students' Constitution, the board is allowed to award recognition to a campus organization only after the Deans' Committee has approved the organization." If that ruling, in any manner, shape or form, appears in the Associated Students' Constitution, I'll eat 50 copies of said Constitution and 100 copies of this letter. Receiving on-campus recognition is one of custom and precedent. It has never been formalized.

As far as I can see, the editorial was meant as criticism, constructive or destructive as the case may be, and I accept it as such. It is plain that part of the Board was confused on January 6 in regard to AVC, but the Board is no longer confused as of March 30 on the status of this organization. The Golden Gater is the confused party now. It should either write competent editorials that have had sufficient research and that have all the facts, or not write editorials at all. The whole problem seems that simple to me.

Phil Ryan, Member-at-Large, Board of Directors.

EDITOR: Good Legislation; Use it!

By way of rebuttal, we wish to trace the history of the plan. Its raison d'etre is that campus groups and individuals clamored for a set of rules whereby "on-campus" and "off-campus" status could be easily determined.

Perhaps this plan also was motivated by a desire to have smear campaigns, aimed at national groups, which reflect on college branches, by-pass State. Ostensibly, the plan would be a clearly delineated constitution for public observation and campus consumption. All units would conform or else be shoo-ed out from under the protective wing of the college.

State would be theoretically free from censure because all "on-campus" groups would follow the laudatory dictates of the plan. Focal points are its non-discriminatory clause and requirement that units must not support national headquarters' policy in controversial issues.

A student is eligible for participation in campus activities if he has a "C" average and a student body card. He is unqualifiedly eligible to participate and is not eligible for "consideration." If students are obliged to uncontestedly hew to a brace of rules, a consistency is mandatory in dealing with groupings of those same students!

Mr. Ryan's inference is that there is still another hurdle. This, conceivably, is a plan constructed to screen out unwanted units that filter through the first plan.

What are the "other factors, over and above the nine-point plan, that enter into consideration of an organization for on-campus standing?" (Note that in this phrase, consideration is denuded of its heretofore ominous quotation marks!)

This implies a nebulous set of tenets that have yet to be publicly expressed. Otherwise, it means merely leaving it up to personal whims, likes and dislikes of Board members.

As to Mr. Ryan's objection to the page one story, we make haste to acknowledge a reportorial oversight. It is inexcusable, but no reporter is to be crucified for an error.

We're not certain which religious organization is referred to by Mr. Ryan. But several days before the plan was officially passed, the president of a religious unit came to the Golden Gater office and informed us that his group could no longer publish items in "What's Doing on Campus."

We asked if his group had been ordered off-campus. He said no, but in view of the plan the group would have to leave. The group specifically recruits only members of that faith. We imagine that this could be interpreted as going off-campus "of their own free will."

We insist that no legislative body should get so involved in doctrine-making that they lose sight of their most immediate and exigent objective: the true representation of the people who, in good faith, chose them as their spokesmen!

'ANTIGONE'

State Cast Wins Praise

By CAROLYN TRUSTY

"I thought it was going to be dry, but it really was good."

This remark, culled from the first night audience of College Theatre's "Antigone," seemed to express unanimous sentiment after witnessing the fine performances turned in by Virginia Cox, Stanton Keeney and the excellent supporting cast.

"Antigone" is the story of conflict between right and wrong. The script was adapted from Sophocles' play by Jean Anouilh during the French occupation, and was translated into English by Lewis Galantiere.

Virginia Cox's portrayal of Antigone's passionate fight for things she believes in is one of the finest college performances we have seen.

CREON ROLE EFFECTIVE

Creon, who represents the evil forces of the world is played by Stanton Keeney. Overcoming an initial nervousness which resulted in several missed cues, he effectively portrayed the cruel, yet pitiful pomposity, of the king.

Lois Butcher sincerely brings to life Ismene, Antigone's sister. However, at the first performance we noticed that she dropped the character of her part whenever she began an exit. This probably was caused by "first night jitters."

We especially enjoyed the work of Jack Kalman as the suave and debonaire Chorus.

COMEDY RELIEF SUPPLIED

Comedy relief is supplied by Annie Plaat as the nurse, and by Tim Haggerty as the talkative first guard. Hugh Lenzer is a credible if at times over-dramatic Haeman. Tom Klunis has a good chance in the final scene as the messenger. The two guards are portrayed by Jay Merrick and Jim Gunter. Cast as Eurydice is Eleanor Webster. The young page is Polytechnic High School student Paul March.

Taking the play in its entirety, we consider "Antigone " to be the outstanding College Theatre production of this season. Done in modern dress, it creates with surprising maturity the mood of the ancient Greek tragedies.

Theatre orchestra is directed by Edwin Kruth.

We would like to suggest that whoever is responsible for the ominous sound of the gong should retreat a little farther into the wings. Sound effects should be heard, not seen.

ART EXHIBIT

Students Create Variety of Styles

By EDREY SCHENDEL

If you have always nursed the notion that you lack the ability to draw a reasonable facsimile of a cow, tree or even the well-known side of a barn, Art 4 instructors at State are willing to disprove your belief. No better confirmation of their ability exists than the art exhibit which has been on display in the Activities Room.

Featuring a variety of style and expression, Art 4 work shown was done by students, some of whom knew little about such art fundamentals as line, value, color, perspective or composition when they began the course. Yet illustrated in the exhibit was knowledge of these essentials, as well as imagination and originality.

Using various media — chalk, water color, tempera, ink— the students created interesting compositions exemplifying various Art 4 assignments.

As a general survey for beginning students or art majors and minors who need a basic review, Art 4 leads the student through principal elements in art, promoting an understanding of essentials and their use.

Work in this course will help you to appreciate and understand great art, and to develop your individual personality through creative expression. It is a wonderful background subject for any college student.

The course has no pre-requisites. If you wish to know more about art, visit the exhibits and see what others have learned.

HARPIES BIZARRE - by Keeney

"I WENT OUT WITH THE MOST WONDERFULLY DEVASTATING PIANO PLAYER LAST NIGHT. . . . SIX FINGERS ON EACH HAND!"

BOILER ROOM

To the Editor: In Hut 5, a detachment of U. S. Marines set up a table and huckstered for recruits. Every time I went in there to get a cup of coffee, this big, green, medal bedecked son of a bell-hop looked at me and grinned hopefully. Please, I am too young to go to war—again. My jungle-rot has almost disappeared; I can look at the Bay without getting sick in the stomach; and my girl-friend says I don't pant so hard any more.

I would like to know by what right the military were able to infiltrate campus and set up a war-recruiting table. I understand we must prepare—but for what? A book I once read said, "The best way to have a war is to PREPARE for one."

"Let's keep the peace, even if the U. S. has to fight to do it." Talk about logic! If anyone is interested, I am not a pacifist. One army I would volunteer for —even though it meant leaving college—would be a United Nations Army, and I don't think I'm alone.

War is Hell. But an unnecessary and completely destructive war is worse than Hell—or any way, we would all soon find out if it was or not.

Let us co-operate with the United Nations! Let us stop war! Let us vote for Wallace in '48!—Manuel Joffe.

Relay Team Sure To Crack Record

We hope you enjoyed JOE HEATH'S treatment of the sports page last week. . . . His style is easily identified by the strong sprinkling of Sigma Pi Sigma on the page (JACK BYRNE, JOHN BURTON, DICK JAENSCH, DON MEAGHER, et al).

Just a plug for JOHN FABRRI, TONY MORROW and DICK BUNKER, who did a repaint job on that horrendous "So. Oregon" sign in Annex A. . . . Rumahadit (Rumahasit's brother) that one of State's leading fraternities had done the original mural in order to build up a little school spirit, but we got it from an authoritative So. Oregon source that it was an initiation stunt of the Red Raiders. . . . Bib 'n' Tucker is thinking of dropping an atom bomb on Ashland, Ore., as a pledge duty.

Speaking of SO, the Chico Wildcat is moaning about some of the nefarious characters among the Red Raider rooters. . . . 50 million can't be wrong.

Former Gator track star FRED KLINE snagged second spot in a 10-mile marathon at Berkeley. . . . Fred finished ahead of WANG CHEN LIN, who was winner of the Petaluma marathon in which JOHN HOLDEN limped home third.

When HOLDEN finished his Petaluma grind, someone asked him how he felt. . . . "Great, I never ran any long distance before; nothing but two and three miles at a time." A spectator who thought 100 yards requires a yellow cab did a fast double-take.

State's 3:25.5 mile relay record should go by the boards some time this season. . . . With ED BRYAN at 51.9 for the quarter already this year, he should be a very able replacement for CHARLIE GRAVES, who was fourth man last season along with returnees HAL FOX, EARL BOLES and DON MEAGHER. . . . The Fresno Relays May 15 may be just the time for these four to really ramble.

'Brett Brats,' 'Fries' Beat Alpha Omega, Bees in WAA Play

By FLORA AUYONG

Brett Brats, led by forwards Evelyn Pellaton, Ernestine Moore and Betty Petrakis, edged Alpha Omega, service sorority, 20-10, in an intramural basketball game April 5.

The Brats immediately took the lead with Evie Pellaton, who connected with a long angle shot for a two-pointer. Vy Moffat, Audrey Reid, Ann Ahokas and Alice Brehl held the AO's to 10-3 at half-time.

DROP CLOSE ONE

With a last-minute bucket by Margot Schmidt, French Fries team nosed out the Owen's Bees, 29-28, April 6 in the gym.

Bees' star forward, Pat Gillespie with 13 markers, was fouled out in the last quarter, leaving the Bees with only two forwards. Fries' Jean Mahrt was next high scorer of the match with 11 digits.

In competition with the Co-eds, recreation league entry, Women's Athletic Association members were edged, 21-19, in State's gym April 6. State's Pat Gillespie again led the Gators with a 15-point barrage. Co-ed Gloria Gamba was high with 12 markers.

SOFTBALL SIGNUP

Softball signup sheet now is posted in the women's gym, according to Audrey Reid, manager. All women students interested in this sport are asked to participate.

During a tennis play day with Mills College April 3, women netsters copped two singles and one doubles matches to tie the Oaklanders, three up, in six games.

In singles matches, Jeanne Contel walloped Peggy Lueck, 6-4, 6-0, for the first Gator win. Sis Nelson edged Mills player, Chuggy Leston, 6-2, 6-4, while Gatorite Mariann Bruneman wilted under Barbara Chudley's terrific forehand.

State's only doubles game winner was the Marion-Betty Petrakis combination over a strong Maise Mill Holland-Pat Bell pair, 3-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

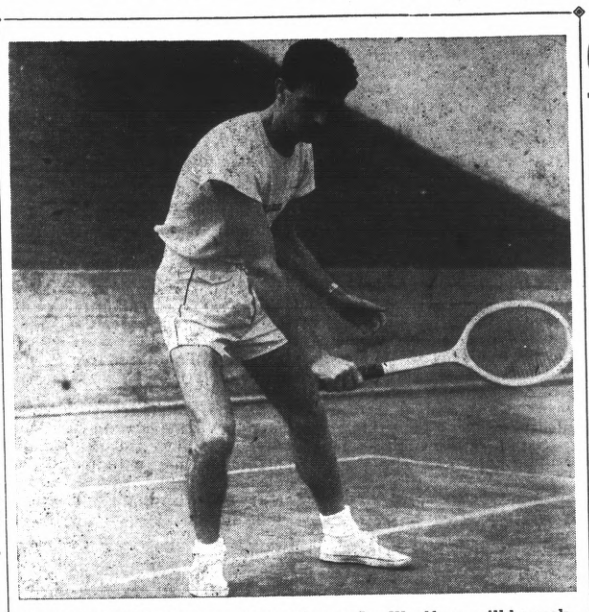
Segurson Places In Mat Tourney

In the season's finale, the Pacific Intercollegiate wrestling championships last Saturday, the University of California took top honors and Washington State captured the second spot.

The State wrestling team, which was composed of just three gripmen, didn't place in the meet. Otto Graf (145), Jack Segurson (191) and Cliff Gray (heavy) were the Tidemen that journeyed to Berkeley to represent State.

Wrestling his way to the finals, Segurson garnered third place laurels in his division, and was the only Stater to score any points.



SPINDLY JOE: First seeded tennis ace, Joe Woolfson, will be seeking his 36th win in the purple and gold silks of State against St. Mary's this afternoon.

Swordsmen Hack Berkeley YMCA In First Victory

Taking their first win of the season, State's fencers defeated the Berkeley YMCA April 9. To date, the home team has lost two games and won one.

The mixed team took the two top places in both tournaments.

Jelma Marshal copped the first place in the women's tourney by winning all 10 of her matches. Helen Johnson placed a close second when she lost only one match.

Displaying magnificent fencing ability, Bill Coleman captured the number one position as Don Pederson succeeded in obtaining the next step on the win ladder.

State soon will come up against tough competition when Staters clash with Stanford and UC teams in May.

WOOLFSON

Net Ace Out For 36th Win

State netsters begin a busy weekend on Golden Gate Park courts today when they collide with St. Mary's at 2:30, and take on Santa Clara's Broncos tomorrow at 10:30.

Gator star Joe Woolfson will be shooting for his 36th victory in college competition today when he goes up against the top-seeded Gael.

Gene Phillips, Ralph Chippendale, Warren Logan, Major McBee, Bill Jackson and Don Forbes round out the squad.

Woolfson and Chippendale comprise State's top doubles team.

The tennis aggregation is pointing toward the Far Western Conference matches May 8.

The Tide tennisers are defending champions of the FWC.

Gator Nine Out To Bag Wildcats In FWC Tussles

By GORDON RADDUE

After being washed out of their last six conference encounters by the fickle fancies of Spring, State's baseball stalwarts will unlimber their trusty flippers tomorrow against Chico State in an afternoon double-header at Chico.

The teams will be tangling for the second time this season, having divided a twin bill in the Far Western Conference curtain raiser on March 27. The Wildcats salvaged the afterpiece, 7-6, after Irv Edstrom had shackled them in the opener with a five-hit, 7-2 triumph.

EDSTROM GOES AGAIN

Edstrom will set his perfect (4-0) mound record on the line in one of the clashes, while the other starting assignment will be drawn by "Cub" Rubio, Earl Clayton or portsider John Pasanen, all of whom saw action against Chico in the 7-6 defeat.

The deciding factor in the outcome of tomorrow's games may well be the extent to which the two teams can recover from the long layoff caused by those well-known April showers.

GATORS MAY BE COLD

It will be like reopening the season for the Gators, who were lucky to sandwich in two well-spaced practice sessions during the long rainy spell.

A great boon to State's cause is its air-tight infield, which features Ed Kenna and Pete Cuddyre alternating at first base, Herb Bill at second, Tom Gaffney on third, with Mike Keropian and Ray Enjaian splitting honors at shortstop.

Steady fielding also prevails in the outfield combination of Frank Isola, left field, "Frenchy" Allemand, center field, and "Cass" Cassilagio in right field. Reserve bat punch is supplied by Tony Matulich and Jim Johnston. Johnston has cracked out seven hits in 14 trips to the plate for an altitudinous .500 batting average.

GUS BUONO RECOVERS

Handling the pitchers behind home plate will be Mike De Gregorio and Gus Buono. De Gregorio delivered twice in the season opener against Chico with clutch singles that helped Edstrom rack up his fourth success. Buono, who was a regular on State's '47 champion nine, has recovered from a knee injury that kept him out of action the first part of the season and is ready to pick up where he left off last year.

All conference games that were rained out will be played at a later date in the season.

Tide Cindermen Oppose Wolfpack (If There's No Rain)

"Into each life some rain must fall, but too much is falling in ours." That seems to be the chant this season for Coach Ray Kaufman and his thinclads.

"This is the third meet we've had to postpone on account of rain," moaned the track mentor this week in reference to the canceled tourney against Chico State last Saturday. "If this keeps up," he continued, "the season will be half over before we've had another meet."

Barring a storm—and who can—the perturbed tutor plans to send his charges against a strong Nevada aggregation Saturday at 1:30 at the new campus.

NEVADA STRONG

From results of a recent meet against Cal Aggie, the Nevadans stack up as a strong contender for top honors and should provide the Tide with an acid test. "The water test," kids the mentor, "we've already had, but plenty." Cal Aggie, which was figured one of the strongest squads in the Far Western Conference, was humiliated by the Wolfpack, 70-50.

Although the coach has high respect for the opposition, he concedes his thinclads a good chance to do wrong by the Nevadans. In a dual meet last year, the Staters routed the visitors by a 75-56 score.

STRENGTH UNKNOWN

This year, however, the Wolfpack has gained strength in the track events and may make it tough for the Gators in the 440, 880 and high hurdles. The field events are still a question mark, so far as the Buchanan boys are concerned. Kaufman makes no secret that he is far from satisfied with this season's performances.

But with the likes of Hal Fox, Don Oakes, Earl Boles, John Holden, Ed Bryan, Jack Byrne, Tom Carroll, Bob Keropian, Ira Call, Hank Watty, Don Meagher, Jerry Friedman and George Kamian in the fold, the tutor believes he has the makings of another championship team.

"Frankly, I don't know too much about Nevada," Kaufman admits, "except that there's a city there called Reno. As for their track team, well . . . we'll know more about that come Saturday—come sunshine!"

Paddlers Lose To Papooses

Only the come-through effort of the Tide's free-style relay team was able to save the local mermen from a fate which should not overtake Lassie, as they were submerged, 52-23, by the Stanford Frosh swimmers last Monday in the scalpers' pool.

Retaining their undefeated record, the team of Kay Wade, Ken Mavor, Tom Hasper and Roger Sobel bettered their previous best mark of the season, covering the distance in 4:04.8.

For the locals, Sobel was the only one to break into the win column, tying for first in the 100 free-style. His second in the 50 free-style earned him high point honors for the day. James Vick and Ralph Cummings garnered seconds while Wade, Ed James and Bob Gillespie came in for thirds.

Tomorrow night will find the mermen splashing against Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo. Coach Al Fish will take an eight-man squad for the jaunt.

Jayvee Baseballers Play Three Initial Encounters

With three practice games under their belts, which served experimental purposes mainly, Coach Dick Boyle's jayvee baseball charges move into San Jose tomorrow to tackle bigger game in the form of San Jose State's freshmen.

In practice tilts with local high school nines, the Baby Gators won, 13-10, and lost, 6-1, to Balboa, and were edged, 1-0, by Galileo.

Lou Lucchesi and Lou McKim loom as the ace mound prospects.

Drama Will Exhume 'Caesar' In May, Plans Essay Contest

College Theatre will present its final production of the Spring semester May 21, 22, 24 and 29. The play is "Julius Caesar," Shakespeare's famous tragedy of emotional and political conflict. Deviating from the traditional, the presentation will be enacted at Frederic Burk Auditorium, instead of the familiar Aptos Junior High site. The play also will feature modern costumes.

J. FENTON McKENNA
"Et tu, Brute?"

McKENNA DIRECTS

J. Fenton McKenna, executive director of drama, will direct the production. Casting is being conducted presently and should be completed by next week, according to the drama staff.

In correlation with the forthcoming production, College Theatre is conducting an essay and short-story contest on the Shakespearean tragedy. Writer of the winning essay or short story will be awarded a $10 prize and two tickets to the play.

POLITICAL CHICANERY

Articles submitted must have bearing on, or connection with, the theme of the play. Analogies between present political conflicts and the type of government issues prevailing at the time of Julius Caesar are considered ideal themes for the contest.

May 14 is the deadline for contributions, which will be accepted at the drama office, Annex A-10.

White Gets Grant For War Research

Gerald T. White, instructor in history, has been given a grant of $1000 from the Penrose Fund of the American Philosophical Society to carry on further research on government war plant financing during World War II.

White, during the summer, hopes to interview the following key government figures: W. S. Knudsen, Robert P. Patterson and Jesse Jones. He also will study the files of certai nwar agencies.

White recently was named secretary of the Board of Directors of the International Institute, a social welfare agency for minority groups in San Francisco.

Fall Counseling Will Start Soon

Counseling for the Fall semester will begin within the next two weeks, the Counseling Office announced this week.

All sophomores and upper division students, who have not done so, must file copies of their majors and minors with the counselors and the registrar before counseling appointment.

Counselors should be notified of any transportation, health or other problems which may effect the student's Fall semester program.

Kjol Appointed To UNESCO Meet

John Kjol, president of International Relations Club, was appointed last week to serve on a preparatory committee in connection with the coming Pacific Coast Regional Conference on United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Appointment was made by letter from Eugene Staley, educational director of World Affairs Council of Northern California.

San Francisco will play host to the conference scheduled for May 13-14-15.

'Antigone' Party Set

A party for the cast and crew members of "Antigone" will be held at the home of Eleanor Webster, cast member, following tomorrow night's performance.

Eichelberger Asked To Talk Here on UN

Clark M. Eichelberger, director of American Association for the United Nations, was scheduled to speak on "The Crisis in the UN" at a student body assembly today at 11 a.m. in the First Baptist Church Auditorium.

Other speakers were: President J. Paul Leonard, Theodore Treutlein, Student Body President Vin O'Leary and Vice-President Audrey Scontriano.

Mr. Eichelberger is an international figure, editor of the "Changing World," the monthly publication of AAUN, and has been active in work for the League of Nations and the United Nations.

Vocal Festival Slated For May 1

Initiated last year, State's annual Vocal Festival is scheduled for May 1, on campus.

Purpose of the event is two-fold. It will offer high school vocal students an opportunity for professional criticism, as well as a first-hand introduction to music facilities at State.

The program and entertainment are in charge of the Music Federation and Division of Creative Arts.

Inklings Story Deadline Will Be May 7, Says Editor

Copy for the June issue of Inklings magazine will be accepted up until May 7, Editor Bill Griffith emphasized this week. He is seeking articles, short stories, satire and light verse.

Courses Can Be Dropped Until 4 p.m. Next Friday

Today is not the last day when students may drop classes without penalty.

Walter J. Homan, dean of student personnel and guidance, said the correct date is April 23.
